Planners and Record Books

Our planners have arrived, and the children are really pleased with them. From Monday, the record books must be brought into school every day. In KS1, they will be used as a reading record. In KS2, they replace the small yellow homework diary. KS2 pupils will still need to bring in their reading records as well as the new record book. Every Monday, the Achievement and Behaviour Points will be recorded for the previous week.

Curriculum

Please see the curriculum tab on our website, which outlines the exciting learning opportunities your child will have over the forthcoming academic year.

Snacks

Please remember snacks should be healthy ones; meaning no chocolate or sugary foods.

Winter Uniform

Just a reminder that the winter uniform comes into effect after the half term. This means shirts/blouses and ties for all (except Reception children who can wear polo shirts all year round). Please also note that the Uniform Policy also states that black school shoes should be worn – this does not include boots. Of course, if there is bad weather, children may want to come to school in boots or wellies and then change into their school shoes on arrival.

(Please refer to the uniform policy on our website and our newsletter dated 20th September 2019)

Birthday Badges

Some children have asked if they can continue to wear a birthday badge on their birthday. Of course! We want children to feel extra special on their special day!

At St Chad's we are marking Black History Month with a celebration of those people from history who have fought against racism and for fairness and equality - yesterday in assembly, the story of Rosa Parks and today Martin Luther King and his 'I have a dream' speech.
